Cameron on Pathway to Career in Police Force

Cameron Hayes, a Year 11 Narooma High School student, has just completed his first week-long visit to Dubbo Tafe to participate in practical learning with the 20 other students selected from the east coast as part of the IPROWD program. Cameron has already participated in a video conference classroom and will complete his “Certificate III Community Services” certificate by the end of Year 12. Each term Cameron is flown to Dubbo to work with the teachers and Police Officers with facets such as fitness, social interaction and skills-building to work with the community – all which will provide a valuable resource for his Police Academy training after his HSC.

Mrs Sandford, the NHS AEA, initiated the application last year with Cameron, Mr Melville – NHS Principal and the support of his family. Each term the IPROWD class makes their way to Dubbo Tafe with the exception being term 4. For this week-long visit Cameron will fly to Sydney to participate in activities associated with all branches of NSW policing – including the Water Police, POLAIR and the mounted police. The costs of travel, accommodation, food and uniforms are covered by the IPROWD program which is a great bonus.

What is IPROWD and how do I apply for it? IPROWD is a specialist program to assist Aboriginal people to gain entry to the NSW Police Academy at Goulburn which is the first step to becoming an officer in the NSW Police Force.

See Mrs Sanford in the NHS AEA office about preparing your 2019 IPROWD course application. example of the 2017 IPROWD application for 2018 course applications close in September – Deadly Vibe webpage with details about IPROWD

Some of the details reported were:-

“Ambition, accomplishment, and confidence were all predominant themes as a weeklong excursion involving Indigenous Police Recruiting Our Way (IPROWD) students came to a close at the NSW Police Force Academy in Goulburn on Thursday.

Forty seven students from all over rural NSW including Maitland, Wagga Wagga, and Tamworth came to the Academy as part of the IPROWD program and got a firsthand look in to the life of a police recruit, from lectures to menus.

“IPROWD is a pathway for Aboriginal people into the police force. And basically it’s a TAFE and NSW Police partnership with the Australian Government’s support,” says IPROWD Coordinator, Peter Gibbs.

“We work on an 18 week program where students gain their Certificate III and that gives them the academic qualifications to come into the Academy. Not only that, it provides this other knowledge, skills, and development that they’re also going to require to understand the job they’re aspiring to; there are so many different elements to it.”

Beginning as a pilot program in Dubbo in 2008, then being rolled out all over NSW in 2011, IPROWD has so far provided a pathway for over 500 Indigenous Australians, 100 of whom are now serving police officers, to reach the academic level needed to enter the Academy as recruits and that number is constantly growing – something that will benefit Indigenous communities”.

IPROWD PROGRAM
SPECIAL EDUCATION - CAFÉ BREW HAHA

has begun again for 2018

Each week students bake a delicious sweet treat, and deliver it with a coffee to staff. The students are developing skills in the kitchen, shopping and managing money through this program. At the end of each term, the students help to plan a reward to celebrate their hard work.

HSC MINIMUM STANDARD UPDATE

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR ALL STUDENTS

Students will be required to meet the HSC minimum standard in literacy and numeracy in order to gain their HSC certificate. They will be given two (2) opportunities each year from Year 10 to attempt the online literacy and numeracy tests up until Year 12. If students have not attained the minimum standard in literacy and numeracy by the time they complete Year 12, they will have 5 years from the year they start their first HSC course to attain the standard.

It is important to note that students will be able to sit their HSC exams and receive their HSC results regardless of whether they attain the HSC minimum standard. However, without the minimum standard, students will not receive the Higher School Certificate. They will instead receive a Record of School Achievement (ROSA) which contains a student’s record of academic achievement up until the date they leave school.

The HSC is not a prerequisite for students to receive an Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR). This means that students who don’t meet the HSC minimum standard will still be able to apply to university, provided they meet all other ATAR requirements.

Students of Year 10 2018 who gained a Band 8 or above in any area of the 2017 NAPLAN test are deemed to have attained the minimum standard in that area. However, students that did not attain Band 8 or above in any area are required to attempt the online minimum standards tests.

Narooma High School will provide Year 10 students with opportunities in Term 1 and Term 3. The windows for testing are as follows:

Term 1: 19 February to 23 March
Term 3: 13 August to 14 September

Students who need to sit online minimum standards will be receiving information on the tests they need to sit and when they will be sitting them in the coming days.

For students in Year 7 to 9, NAPLAN tests will no longer be available as an early way to demonstrate the minimum standard. This is to ensure that NAPLAN remains focused on its diagnostic purpose and reduce unnecessary stress on students. As a result of this change, ALL students will be required to sit the minimum standard tests once they start Year 10, beginning in 2019.

Please see the following NESA website for more information:
After a challenging three week build season preparing for the FIRST® Robotics Competition, the Robo-Rebels robotics team from Narooma High School has successfully completed a new robot to compete in the South Pacific Regional Championships to be held at the State Sports Centre in Homebush in March. In order to build the robot during the short build season, this new rookie team has had to design and build mechanical, electrical and software controls systems, as well as integrate them all into one remote-controlled machine. Coach Gayle Allison said “Students have learnt engineering skills across several disciplines, including shaping and assembling metal, working with electronics and programming controls systems in Java coding language, the build has been a very steep learning curve for all involved.”

The theme for this year’s competition is “Power-Up”. Robots play the part of a character inside a video game, working in an alliance of three teams and co-operating together to score points, play defence and fend off other teams. Combining the excitement of sport with the rigors of science and technology, FIRST® Robotics Competition is like the ultimate Sport for the Mind.

The 2018 Robo-Rebels robot is called “Aoki”, after a favourite video game character. The Robot will be able to transport yellow scoring cubes to various points on the playing field in order to gain points for the alliance in each match.

The Robo-Rebels are a student team, at present the team survives on a combination of donations from generous sponsors including Quota Club, Narooma Sporting and Services Club, Narooma Plaza, Narooma Mens Shed and “in kind” support from Narooma High School. “Our aim is to become financially independent and we will be running robotics camps following our competition trip ” said Team Coach and mentor Gayle Allison, “The funds raised from our Robo Camps will enable all our robotics students to travel and take part in competitions throughout the year. Robo Camps are facilitated and organised by the team members and form the financial backbone of our team, as well as introducing primary school students to the world of robotics” Ms Allison concluded.

FIRST® Robotics Competition is a robotics competition, not a robot-fighting contest. Competition games are designed to be like team sports, and robots are not supposed to be intentionally harmed. Teams are guided by solid principles of teamwork, graciousness, cooperation, camaraderie and professionalism. The game is always as safe as can be ensured, and students are encouraged to be as friendly with other teams as they are with their own.”Our team is grateful to ongoing support and advice from robotics teams in Ulladulla, Wollongong and Macquarie University,” said mentor Christina Potts, “The spirit of co-operation between teams is fantastic, teams are encouraged to help each other, the emphasis on sharing knowledge and supporting each other is what makes this competition different to any other I have been involved in.” Ms Potts concluded.

What to do if you are being bullied

You have a right to feel safe and be safe. If you are being bullied here are some ideas about what you can do.

Talk to someone about it. Find a trusted friend, teacher or carer who will listen to how you feel, be supportive, and perhaps even help you work out what to do.

- Talk to your friends - they can help you tell a teacher or your parents or just to feel better.
- Talk to your parents - tell them all about what's been happening.
- Talk to your teacher or another staff member - tell them all about what's been happening. If you don't want to do this in public, make an excuse to see the teacher about something else, for example your homework.
- If you can't talk to someone face-to-face go online at Kids Helpline http://www.kidshelp.com.au/ or call a Kids Helpline counsellor on 1800 55 1800.

Try a few of the strategies that have worked for others. Only try these strategies if you are not in any immediate danger of being physically hurt and you feel confident you can do them.

- Ignore the bullying - turn your back and walk away.
- Act unimpressed or pretend you don't care what they say or do to you. You could say 'okay, whatever' and walk away.
- Use strong, assertive statements, starting with the word 'I'; tell the other person 'I want you to stop that' in a strong confident voice. Practice this with your friends.
- Use 'tagging' which means making a joking or funny comment that makes the other person think you don't care what they say.
- Ask your friends to speak up for you. And remember to do the same for them!

Try to stay positive. Focus on all the things that you do well, the people who like you and care about you. Write down your thoughts and feelings about the bullying to help you think clearly about what you can do.

Hang around with your friends and be with people who help you feel good about yourself. Good friends respect, encourage and support you. They care for your wellbeing and are fun to be around. You'll make new friends by respecting, encouraging and supporting others.

Try to sort out the problem behind the bullying. If you feel safe to do so, talk with the other people involved and ask them how you might be able to sort out the problem together.
